1	Math	Measurement	Measure things around the house in 1 inch, ½ inch and ¼ inches.	ruler, variety of items
2	Math	Salute!	To play, students need to get into groups of three. Each group will also need a deck of cards, with the face cards and jokers taken out (just keep the numbers 2-10). Two students sit facing one another, with the deck of cards between them. Player #3 sits off to the side so that she can see both players' faces. Player #1 and #2 each pick up a card, and without looking at it, place it on their foreheads as shown below. They can see what each other has, but they do not know which card they are holding. Player #3 (who can see both cards) mentally multiplies the cards together and says the product out loud. In this example, Player #1 is holding a 6 and Player #2 is holding a 10, so the product is $6 \times 10 = 60$. Once Player #3 has said the product out loud, Players #1 and #2 each try to figure out what card he is holding. So if the product is 60, and Player #1 can see that Player #2 is holding a 10, he can perform a division equation to figure out what he has ($60 \div 10 = 6$). The first player to correctly state which card they are holding keeps both cards. The player with the most cards at the end of the game wins.	deck of cards
